

2015 Student Science & Education Symposium Presentation Award Winners

Left to right, Back Row: Dr. Spinrad, Katrina Rosemond, Charlotte Eckmann, Samantha Levell, Amanda Murphy, Milton Martinez-Torres, Thomas Ludwig, Julia Maine, Joshua Wadler

Front Row: Danielle Cox, Abigail Hummel, Emily Wallingford, Leigh Terry, Lewis Kunik

From July 27 – 30th, 2015 NOAA Office of Education held its annual Student Science and Education Symposium. The Symposium was attended by 123 EPP/MSI and Hollings undergraduate students who presented the results of their internships conducted this summer at NOAA facilities throughout the United States. The three day event was filled with impressive oral and poster presentation sessions, information sharing and networking opportunities. The symposium culminated in a closing ceremony with inspiring remarks delivered by invited speaker Dr. Richard Spinrad, the NOAA Chief Scientist. Congratulations to all the students who participated in the Science and Education Symposium, and all of the presentation award winners!

EPP Award winners:

Katrina Rosemond – Outstanding Poster Presentation; Climate Adaptation and Mitigation
An Intercomparison of Predicted Sea Ice Concentration from Global Ocean Forecast System & Arctic Cap Nowcast/Forecast System

Milton Martinez-Torres – Outstanding Poster Presentation; Science and Technology
Interactive Multisensor Snow and Ice Mapping System (IMS) Refinement Utilizing Global Historical Climatology Network-Daily (GHCN-D) Dataset